

SendGrid Transactional Email

SendGrid Transactional Email relieves businesses of the cost and complexity of maintaining custom email systems by providing a cloud-based email delivery platform that is scalable. SendGrid provides reliable delivery, scalability and real-time analytics along with flexible APIs that make custom integration a breeze.

The SendGrid Difference

The email infrastructure of tomorrow, delivered today.

On average, over 20% of legitimate email never gets delivered to the inbox. If you rely on email to drive your business, a high inbox delivery rate is imperative to your success. SendGrid helps you focus on your business without the cost and complexity of owning and maintaining an email infrastructure. Our cloud platform, advanced analytics, and flexible APIs are optimized for delivery of transactional and marketing email. Easy integration coupled with 24/7 access to our team of email experts allows you to avoid email headaches, save money and focus on doing what you do best – building the next great application.

On-Demand Scalability

Versatile platform that easily grows with you.

SendGrid's cloud-based infrastructure routinely delivers billions of emails a month. SendGrid can dynamically adjust as your email volume changes, eliminating the need for you to predict, provision, or maintain mail server capacity.

Real-time Analytics

Actionable insights that help you improve performance.

SendGrid enables real-time measurement of the delivery and ROI performance of your email campaigns, including the ability to drill down to a single email address. With access to this data you can instantly evaluate email and campaign performance and adjust to improve the success rates of your program.

Flexible Integration

Customizable platform tailored to fit your needs.

SendGrid's flexible APIs allow you to create custom features around the specific email needs of your business. The APIs enable broad control over email handling, processing and reporting. SendGrid's documentation makes integration quick and easy with plenty of live code examples in a variety of languages.

Industry Leading Support

Email experts available any time.

Email problems can happen at any moment. SendGrid offers support via phone or chat during weekdays from 7am to 7pm (Mountain Time) with critical incident support available 24/7. Self-support is also available through extensive documentation, an online knowledge base, and an active online support community.

"We're now enjoying email delivery rates of 96% and have saved thousands of dollars in engineering resources. Email deliverability is no longer something we have to worry about, but rather a manageable metric that we can proactively control as we grow our email program."

Get Started Today

Implementing with SendGrid is easy. Get started today for free by visiting www.sendgrid.com

For additional information, contact SendGrid Sales at +1 877 969 8657 or by email at sales@sendgrid.com